Dr. Sang D. Choi, PhD, CSP, CPE is the President (2018-2019) of the International Society for Occupational Ergonomics and Safety (ISOES). He is also Professor and Director of Center for OESH in the Department of Occupational & Environmental Safety & Health (OESH) at the University of Wisconsin – Whitewater, Wisconsin, USA. Dr. Choi also served as adjunct and the visiting professor in the Department of Industrial & Systems Engineering at Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (KAIST). He has also worked in the ANSI/ASSP A10.100-2018 Technical Report (TR) – Prevention through Design (PtD) for Construction Safety and Health committee. Professor Choi is a nationally and internationally recognized scholar with extensive knowledge and experience in the areas of occupational ergonomics/human factors engineering and industrial safety. He is the recipient of the University-Wide Outstanding Research Award and the U.S. National Safety Council Research Award. Dr. Choi has produced over 160-refereed publications, and invited multiple times to be as the keynote speaker at prestigious national and international conferences. His academic experience comprises teaching graduate and undergraduate courses in occupational ergonomics, construction accident prevention, analysis and design for safety, system safety & hazard analysis, and research methods. His research interests are interactive fall prevention, aging workforce, human-systems integration (HSI), work system analysis, and prevention through design (PtD). Also, he is a strong proponent of efforts to integrate research into the OESH practice (research to practice) and is dedicated to bridge the gap between academia and the OESH profession (practice to research). He holds a Ph.D. in Industrial Engineering with an emphasis on Occupational Ergonomics & Safety from Western Michigan University. He was an U.S. OSHA-approved outreach instructor/course chair for construction and industrial safety, and served as the Editor for the ASSP's Journal of Safety Health & Environmental Research. Dr. Choi is a Certified Safety Professional (CSP #21433) by the Board of Certified Safety Professionals, and a Certified Professional Ergonomist (CPE #1179) by the Board of Certification in Professional Ergonomics. Dr. Choi is a professional member of American Society of Safety Professionals (ASSP) and Human Factors and Ergonomics Society (HFES).
